Similar to NiMH rechargeable batteries, AccuEvolution can be recharged up to 1000 times. But, unlike standard NiMH batteries, they keep most of their capacity over time.

AccuEvolution batteries outperform other state of the art NiMH batteries with higher initial capacity: While conventional rechargeable batteries loose 20% of their capacity every month, AccuEvolution loses only 2%.

After only one month, AccuEvolution cells offer more useable capacity than conventional NiMH batteries. Your flashlights will still shine bright even after months of storage.
